We will not keep, store, or share any information gathered about any individual unless full and understood consent is gained. If any data is stored it will only be relevant and necessary and, to ensure it isn't kept longer than necessary, we will review and delete it where appropriate. To determine where it is appropriate a policy will be put in place, this policy will look at relevancy of the data and length of time it has been stored. Any data stored will also be stored securely to ensure we are the only people who can access it. Any breach will be reported to the correct body.

Recorded audio will be processed by our unique program to provide an outcome that can suggest whether the user has COVID-19, asthma, or neither. This app provides NO formal diagnosis and has room for error as cases can present themselves different in every individual. If your symptoms are currently bad or worsen seek advice from a medical professional.
